This edition of Forest Nursery Pests, Agriculture Handbook No. 680, was made possible by the work of many people from around the country. Contributing authors include U.S. Department of Agriculture, Forest Service and Agricultural Research Service entomologists and pathologists, university professors and researchers, State extension specialists, consultants, and plant pathologists and horticulturists in private industry. We thank all of these people for volunteering their time and expertise. We also thank the many individuals and agencies that allowed the use of their photographs.

Sonja Beavers of the Office of Communication in the Forest Service Washington Office shepherded the manuscript through the publication and printing process. Diane Haase, Forest Service Western Nursery Specialist, arranged for publishing on the Reforestation, Nurseries, and Genetics Resources Web site (<http://www.rngr.net>).

We thank the regional directors of the Forest Service Forest Health Protection for supporting this project and Doug Daoust, Director of Forest Health

Protection in the Pacific Northwest Region, in particular, for making the commitment to fund publication and printing.

We also thank the authors of the previous forest nursery pest and disease handbooks. Without their work, this publication would not have been possible. To them, and to all those who participated in the production of this handbook, thank you.
